ESTABLISHED 1846. NEWPORT, R. I., MONDAY, APRIL 16, 1906. PRICE TWO CENTS.

Not at the Party, Saturday?

Well, you did miss it. Crowds after crowds just swarmed through this big store, scarcely believing their senses. 'Twas off the street, out of Newport—Boston or New York, that's the way people felt. Many never dreamed Newport held such a store. Everything bright, crisp, now and up-to-date, and prices that looked as if there must be a big clearance sale going on. And such a stock—real acres of it. And when they landed on that second floor, well, that capped the climax—a real Crawford Range with a real coal fire, cooking real coffee and baking real rolls about as fast as the cook could put them in and take them out, and such rolls, too; light as a feather and brown as a berry, and just think of it, scarcely a handful of fire in the fire pot all day. People could scarcely believe it; but there it was, all we'd ever said about it that really seemed impossible proved to the letter. Well, our anniversary sale lasts for the week. Give us the pleasure of showing you through. It is well worth your while. As one gentleman said "It's as good as a museum." There's more to be found here, for what you are willing to spend than in any other store in New England.

GORKY'S MARITAL STATUS.

May be Investigated by Department of Commerce and Labor.

WASHINGTON, April 16.—The question of the marital status of Maxim Gorky, the Russian author and socialist, who arrived at the port of New York last week, has not been officially brought to the attention of the Department of Commerce and Labor, nor is it known here what steps, if any, are being taken by the immigration commissioner at New York to ascertain the truth of the assertion that Gorky has not been divorced, and that his real wife, together with their children, is still in Russia. It was stated today at the bureau of immigration that the matter would be investigated if complaint was officially made that Gorky's companion is other than his legal wife.

INVENTS A REPEATER.

Makes It Possible to Telephone From San Francisco to New York.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 16.—The Examiner today says: David St. Charles, an engineer of this city, has invented a repeater which will make it possible to telephone from here to New York. What the so-called "repeater" has done for telegraphy, St. Charles's invention, it is now claimed, has done for the telephone. The combining of the echo in nature with the sounding board of a violin furnished the clue to the discovery, according to a statement of St. Charles. Superintendent John F. Glass of the local telephone company is quoted to the effect that the invention is a success.

TO INVESTIGATE EXPLOSION.

Board of Inquiry Appointed by Rear Admiral Evans.

GUANTANAMO, Cuba, April 16.—A board of inquiry appointed by Rear Admiral Robley D. Evans, commander-in-chief of the United States Atlantic fleet, today began an investigation of the cause of the explosion April 12 on board battleship Kearsarge while the crew were engaged in target practice off Culebra island, resulting in the death of two officers and five men.

Very little information regarding the accident is obtainable here pending the decision of the court of inquiry, and no member of the crew of the Kearsarge will be allowed ashore for the present. When the correspondent of the Associated Press boarded the Kearsarge today all information was refused, but later a few details of the disaster were obtained. The explosion, it appears, took place in the forward upper turret of the battleship while a charge was being rammed into the breech of a 13-inch gun. While this was being done, it was further asserted, connection was accidentally made with the electric-firing apparatus and the explosion occurred.

Lieutenant John M. Hudgins, one of the two officers killed, was in charge of the firing party, and Lieutenant Joseph W. Graeme, who succumbed to his injuries April 14, was attached to armored cruiser Maryland, and was acting as umpire. He was taken on board the Maryland and died there.

NAVAL MEN PLEASED.

Gratified at Record Made by Gunners on Cruiser Pennsylvania.

WASHINGTON, April 16.—The record made by Lieutenant Brady's crew when the Pennsylvania, in hitting the target, distant 1,200 yards, 17 times in a minute and a half while the big ship was moving at a 10-knot gait was naturally a source of gratification to naval men here. Fine as was this performance, it is said that there are many others fit to be written down with it. But for prudential reasons the Navy Department has adopted the policy of keeping these records secret as far as possible, so it is not deemed advisable to let the world know how this Pennsylvania record with a six-inch gun compares with the shooting on other ships.

On one point, however, the officers of experience here are agreed, and that is that the shooting of the American blue-jackets is due in great part to the men themselves. It is admitted that the great improvement in the guns turned out at the Washington navy yard has much to do with the improvement in the target practice, but after all the painstaking training through which the gunners are being put is believed to be the secret of success. This training can be had only by the expenditure of ammunition in actual practice. Though useful in a degree, dummy practice cannot replace actual firing of the big guns with full charges. The heavy shot and cartridge cases must be handled themselves in order to develop the muscles of the gunners. The amount of physical energy expended in this record shooting is almost incredible.

In the case of Lieutenant Brady's gun one man of the crew was obliged to lift a shell weighing 101 pounds 17 times at the rate of one elevation per second. That would approach the development of a theoretical horsepower in the person of that particular sailor. Moreover, he did not only lift the shell from the deck, but threw it bodily three feet into the loading tray and breech of the gun. The result of this improvement in gunnery in the American navy is startling, when attention is directed to the fact that eight years ago it was the regulation that just one shot must be fired from a six-inch gun in the period of time—90 seconds—in which the Pennsylvania gun crew fired 17. That means that one gun now as manned by a trained crew would be equal to a whole broadside of guns in the days before the Spanish war.

SATISFIED WITH OUTLOOK.

Mitchell Expects Reply From Operators on Last Proposition.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., April 16.—John Mitchell, president of the United Mine Workers, and Secretary-Treasurer W. B. Wilson were at national headquarters today, and both seemed satisfied with the outlook. Mr. Mitchell expects to receive, within the next two or three days, a reply from the anthracite operators to his last arbitration proposition. It is reported that the operators of Indiana, Ohio and Illinois are agitating a proposition to have the operators and miners meet by states and discuss difficulties. Mr. Mitchell said he would favorably consider such a move, but he thought the better course would be for the miners and operators of the three states to send committees to Indianapolis for a joint conference to make an effort to reach an interstate agreement.

"One would scarcely know that a great strike is on," said Mr. Mitchell. "The operators and the public have all the coal they want, the miners would not have had any work any way since April 1, and if the public is paying more than formerly for coal, some one is taking advantage of the situation."

ASHES ALMOST CEASE FALLING.

Mt. Vesuvius Surrounded by Cloud of Smoke.

American Tourists Visit Region of Eruption.

NAPLES, April 16.—The condition of Mt. Vesuvius is unchanged today. The volcano is still surrounded by a thick cloud of smoke, but ashes have almost ceased to fall. Many Americans, including passengers of White Star line steamer Cretic and North German Lloyd steamer Barbarossa, visited the Vesuvius region during the day. The police and carabiniers tried hard to prevent some of them from going further up to the observatory, saying that it was not safe.

Professor Matteucr this morning said that while all danger appeared to be over the normal condition of the volcano would not be re-established for several weeks.

Bodies are still being exhumed from the ruins at Ottajano and San Giuseppe.

INJURED MEN RECOVERED.

American Athletes Arrive at Naples on Way to Athens.

NAPLES, April 16.—North German Lloyd steamer Barbarossa, from New York April 3 and Gibraltar April 13, having on board the American athletes who are entered to compete in the Olympic games which begin at Athens April 22, arrived here at noon today. Her arrival was the signal for a popular demonstration of welcome, as she also had on board the Duke of Orleans, who boarded the steamer at Gibraltar, which brought the Duke and Duchess of Aosta and many other notabilities to the pier, where a band played the Italian and French national anthems.

The Americans landed soon after the Barbarossa's arrival. Some of them visited the scenes of desolation in the vicinity of Mt. Vesuvius, but the majority of the athletes, accompanied by their trainers, practiced running, jumping, etc., in order to test their condition after the sea voyage.

The men who were injured while crossing the Atlantic, with the exception of James S. Mitchell of the New York Athletic Club, the weight putter and hammer thrower, and Harry L. Hillman, Jr., the New York Athletic Club runner, have recovered. Mitchell's arm is still in a sling, and may interfere with his competing, and Hillman's left leg is still bandaged. The latter is improving and he expects to compete at Athens. All the Americans were in good spirits, and insisted that the accidents would not appreciably affect the strength of the team.

Hillman's injured knee is still slightly discolored and swollen. It was treated by Dr. Calarias, of the New York Athletic Club, delegate of the United States to the medical congress, to be held at Lisbon, April 19-25, who happened to be on board. The doctor massaged the injured part, which greatly assited in reducing the joint and restoring the strength of the tendons.

Mitchell suffered the most from the sea voyage, remaining in bed three days after his dislocated left shoulder had been set by the ship's surgeon. He was able to go about with the rest of the American party, and landed here today with his arm in a sling. Although he continues hopeful of making a showing at Athens and says he certainly will try for a prize, the other members of the team fear that Mitchell is badly handicapped. Referring to the injury sustained by Mitchell and himself, Hillman said:

"Only six out of 32 of us were struck by the wave, and four of these six are again in fine trim. Only Mitchell and myself are slightly ailing. My right knee is bandaged and a little stiff, but it has been greatly improved by massage treatment. I hardly think it will interfere with my running. I took a practice jog on deck yesterday without any pain, and had easy jogs today without difficulty. I hope to be entirely fit in a few days. The main drawback is the interruption of practice."

Martin J. Sheridan, the champion discus thrower of the Irish-American Athletic Club, New York, whose left arm and leg were injured, says his injuries do not interfere with his throwing. The injury to his arm is confined to severe bruises, and the tendons of his left ankle, which were strained, have entirely regained their strength. The running ability of Harvey W. Cohn, the distance runner of the Irish-American Athletic Club, New York, who was also slightly hurt in one of his legs, is pronounced to be unimpaired.

TO POSTPONE FRYE ACT.

Collector Rafferty Arrives in Washington From Philippines.

WASHINGTON, April 16.—Collector Rafferty of the port of Cebu, in the Philippine Islands, about the third in importance in the archipelago, has arrived in Washington, nominally on leave of absence, but really to urge the passage of the pending bill, postponing for three years the application of the Frye act, requiring the carriage in American bottoms of all exports from the Philippines to the United States and of all the inter-island trade. Mr. Rafferty says he is convinced that the application of this act next July as the existing law requires would absolutely stop all trade between the islands and the United States. The insular bureau has advertised in vain for proposals from American ship owners to take cargoes between New York and Manila, and the view taken by the officials is that unless the time is extended the entire island commerce will be diverted to Hong Kong, to which port it can be carried in foreign ships.

Reported by Wireless.

SIASCONSET, Mass., April 16.—Steamer Melike, from Genoa for New York, was in communication by wireless with the station here, when 40 miles south of Nantucket lightship at 7:15 a. m.

Steamer Kaiser Wilhelm II, from Bremen, etc., for New York, was in communication by wireless with the Marconi station at Sable Islands when 630 miles east of Sandy Hook at 6 a. m.

SUPPORTS HIS AMENDMENTS.

Senator Heyburn Makes Speech on the Railroad Rate Bill.

WASHINGTON, April 16.—When the Senate convened today Mr. Tillman introduced a resolution, directing the committee on finance to inquire into alleged contributions to campaign committees, and why facts concerning them had not been disclosed by the comptroller of the currency. The resolution dealt with the broad subject of bank contributions, and by inference to specific cases in Chicago and Cincinnati. It directed the committee to inquire whether legal proceedings should be had. Mr. Tillman asked for immediate consideration of the resolution, but upon objection it went over.

The railroad rate bill was called up, and Mr. Heyburn addressed the Senate in support of amendments which he had offered.

The amendment by Mr. Heyburn grants the right of review of orders of the interstate commerce commission. It provides that the review shall be granted on application of either party to proceedings before the commission within 30 days from the date of making the order. The review of the court is to be confined to the facts set up in the record before the commission.

TO AMEND INDIAN BILL.

Resolution Presented in the House by Representative Curtis.

WASHINGTON, April 16.—The House today promptly plunged into the work set out for it under suspension of the rules.

Mr. Gillette (Mass.), from the committee on appropriations, reported the District of Columbia appropriation bill.

Mr. Curtis (Kan.) presented a concurrent resolution, authorizing that in the enrolment of the bill providing for the final disposition of the five civilized tribes in the Indian Territory the clerk be directed to restore to the bill the part proposed to be stricken out in one of the amendments of the Senate.

The amendments sought to be inserted are in the nature of corrections, one amendment, however, being entirely new matter and providing for the sale of all buildings now or heretofore used for governmental, school and other tribal purposes.

Mr. Curtis stated that the mistakes in the bill were discovered after the conference report had been signed, and that if these corrections were not made three sections of the bill would be incongruous.

Mr. Dearmond (Mo.) thought that legislation by resolution was dangerous. On this ground he was opposed to the resolution.

The rules were suspended and the resolution adopted.

Mr. Shartel (Mo.) called up the bill amending the revised statutes relating to national banks. National banks have heretofore been limited in making loans so that they could not loan to exceed 10 per cent of their capital to any one concern. The bill which Mr. Shartel called up adds the surplus to the capital stock for loan purposes, providing no loan shall exceed 20 per cent of the capital stock.

Mr. Gillespie (Texas), a member of the committee on banking and currency, said the bill was in the interest of the large borrower and against the small borrower, thereby lessening the cost of administration. He argued that if the bill became a law, a penalty should be provided for the violation of its provisions. He said that the comptroller of the currency made the startling statement that 75 per cent of the banks pay no attention to the present provision limiting the loaning capacity of the bank to any one person, firm, etc., to 10 per cent of its capital stock, and he believed a good stiff penalty ought to be provided to compel the banks to keep the law.

Mr. Powers (Me.) and Mr. Fowler (N. J.) both supported the bill. The bill was passed on a rising vote of 193 to 7.

EXPLOSION IN THE KEARSARGE TURRET

Seven Men Blown to Pieces by the Accident.

Three Sections of 13-Inch Powder Charge Ignited.

WASHINGTON, April 15.—Two years to a day later than the fatal Missouri disaster on a Friday and the 13th of the month seven men perished, blown to bits, in the forward turret of battleship Kearsarge by one of those accidents which acquire additional terrors for sailors because of their obscure origin and almost impossibility of prevention.

Today, just at the close of the week's work at the department, came a cablegram from Rear Admiral Evans, the commanding chief of the Atlantic fleet, telling of a dreadful accident on one of his best ships, the Kearsarge. The news came from Caimanera, a little cable station at the mouth of Guantanamo bay, indicating that the Kearsarge herself had arrived at that place. When the message was reduced to form, it read as follows:

"April 13, about 8:15 (shortly after completion target practice of Kearsarge forward turret), while the powder was going below, three sections of a 13-inch charge of powder were ignited. Charge of powder in other lift just below and one section inside 13-inch remained intact. Cause not yet determined, nor accountability. Matter is being investigated. Lieutenant Joseph W. Graeme, gun umpire, has been sent to the Maryland in a very critical state about 9 a. m.

The dead: Lieutenant Hudgins, turret officer.

"The following have since died: Peter Norberg, gunner's mate; Theodore Naegely, seaman; Antonio Thorson, ordinary seaman; Julius A. Koester, turret captain, first class; Ellis H. Athey, seaman.

"The following was dangerously injured by the accident, recovery doubtful: W. King, ordinary seaman.

"Will bury dead at Guantanamo. Vessel uninjured."

The residences and next of kin of the victims were as follows:

Norberg, Peter, gunner's mate, third class, residence New York; next of kin, Margaret Norberg, mother, Sandsville, Sweden.

Naegeley, Theodore, seaman, residence, Elizabth, N. J.; next of kin, Louis Graff, guardian, 864 Elizabeth avenue, Elizabeth, N. J.

Thorson, Anton Claus, ordinary seaman, residence, New York; next of kin, Elias Thorson, father, Wyckoff avenue, near Broadway, Brooklyn, N. Y.

Koester, Julius Alfred, turret captain, first class, residence, Chicago, Ill.; next of kin, John Petersen, uncle, 315 West Huron street, Chicago, Ill.

Athey, Ellis Homer, seaman, residence, Parkersburg, W. Va.; next of kin, W. E. Athey, 1006 Twenty-first street, Parkersburg W. Va.

King, William, ordinary seaman, residence, Appleton City, Mo., next of kin, Mrs. Alice Cox, Appleton City, Mo.

The first feeling of the officers at the Navy Department after reading the cablegram was one of surprise that the accident had resulted in so little loss of life. The Kearsarge's forward turret, where the accident occurred, is of the superposed type. In other words, an eight-inch gun turret stands upon the top of the 13-inch gun turret. In the lower turret were 21 men, and in the upper turret 16. An ammunition hoist connected the two, and had the powder in the lower hoist exploded, probably every man in the two turrets would have been killed. The full charge of powder for a 13-inch gun is divided into sections in canvas bags, and three of these, probably just enough to fill one compartment in the ammunition hoists, ignited.

As the cablegram states, the cause of the ignition was not known, but the first belief at the Navy Department is that in cleaning up the turret and throwing open the breeches of the big guns after the last round had been fired, some small bit of smouldering canvas bagging was blow out of one of the guns as the breech block swung around, only to fall upon the loaded ammunition hoist where the surplus powder was being returned to the magazines below. Had the remainder of the powder exploded, there might have been a repetition of the Missouri disaster, when 26 men were killed in the turret and in the magazines below.

It may be noted, however, that the cause of the accident in the case of the Missouri was entirely different from that in the case of the Kearsarge, for the Missouri turret breech block was swung open before the burning powder gases had escaped, resulting in the ignition of the powder in the turret. The officers were quick to guard against a repetition of an accident of that kind by fitting out the big turret guns in the battleships with automatic spray devices and air blasts, which made it impossible to have a "flare back."

Lieutenant Graeme, who was mentioned as being in a critical state at the time the cablegram was sent, did not belong to the company of the Kearsarge. He was attached to the Maryland and was on board the Kearsarge in the capacity of an umpire to check off and record the performance of the gunners, a very necessary function in view of the keen spirit of rivalry obtaining between the crews of the battleships in the matter of efficiency at target practice.

The Kearsarge, while not one of the latest, is regarded as one of the best battleships in the American fleet. She is commanded by Captain Winslow, is of 11,520 tons displacement, is 375 feet in length, 72 feet in breadth and 23½ feet in draft, with a speed record of 16.32 knots, and a battery of 22 guns, four inches and more in calibre, and 24 guns below that size. She was launched in 1898 and commissioned in 1900.

Lieutenant John M. Hudgins, the only officer who lost his life by the explosion on the Kearsarge, was a native of Virginia.

The Navy Department received a telegram from Admiral Brownson reporting that Lieutenant Joseph W. Graeme, gun umpire, is dead; that the condition of William King, ordinary seaman, and Frederick L. Fisher, chief gunner's mate, is grave and that all others injured in that disaster are doing well.

The death of Lieutenant Graeme, which, the despatch says, occurred yesterday, increases the death list from the disaster to seven persons in all, two of whom were commissioned officers. The body of the officers killed will be sent to this country on the first available vessel. Similar action will be taken regarding the bodies of the seamen killed if their families or next of kin desire that this be done. It is expected that the vessels which have been conducting target practice will have finished their work before the present week is out and most of them will be on their way north to New York or other ports.

PROOFS AGAINST DOWIE.

Voliva Produces First of the Documentary Evidence.

CHICAGO, April 15.—General Overseer Glenn Voliva produced the first of his batch of documentary evidence today by which he hopes to overthrow completely John Alexander Dowie and his followers who are endeavoring to regain control of Zion City. The instrument was a letter written under the date of April 13, 1904, and addressed to Dowie, who was then in Zurich, Switzerland.

The letter was signed by Overseers John C. Speicher, Charles J. Bernard and Judge W. V. Barnes. In the document they warned Dowie that unless he changed his ways in the management of Zion City, a clash was inevitable.

They stated that from their examination of the conduct of the affairs of the colony it was evident that Dowie had overdrawn his account at the bank in Zion City, that he had received deposits when it was known that the bank was insolvent, that he had used funds otherwise than in accordance with the representations made by the stock contracts and certificates, and that the proof of the appropriation of such large sums for his own personal use and for ends outside of the industries named would be tantamount to a conviction of embezzlement in any court of law.

The letter further implored Dowie to exercise a rigid economy on the part of himself and family, saying that expenditures to this end should be based on needs rather than upon a fictitious income.

Dowie spent a quiet Sunday in this city and presided over simple Easter ceremonies, which were participated in by a few of his faithful followers at the Auditorium Annex.

The attorneys for both sides said that conferences would be resumed tomorrow, and there were yet hopes that a basis for an amicable settlement would be reached.

FORMOSA DEATH LIST GROWING.

One Hundred and Nine Persons Perish in Earthquake.

TOKIO, April 15.—One hundred and nine persons are known to have been killed and 29 injured in the earthquake that was experienced in the southern part of the Island of Formosa last Saturday, but further details, it is expected, will swell the death roll as the shock was more severe than that of March 17. The town of Kagi again was the principal sufferer.

Landslides have completely changed the topography of the country. The officials are working feverishly to relieve the thousands of persons left homeless by the earthquake.

PORTSMOUTH.

[Regular correspondence of the News.]

St. Paul's was attractively decorated for Easter under the supervision of Mrs. Joseph W. Greene. The font contained a high mound of pink carnations, with a deep border of dark red ones; at the foot of the lectern were several pots of calla lilies, on the altar two vases of Easter Lilies, a rose bush had 9 large pink roses in bloom; besides these, there were potted geraniums and a variety of cut flowers, hyacinths and daffodils. The music was appropriate. Mr. B. Archie Chase singing a solo in the morning. The rain caused a small attendance at the 3 o'clock service, at which Miss Abbie M. Hicks sang.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur L. Fish of Dorchester, Mass., were guests for Easter of Mr. Fish's father, Mr. Lawrence P. Fish, and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Sisson of Providence were guests Sunday of Mrs. Sisson's mother, Mrs. R. D. Hall, and family of Bristol Ferry.

Mr. Charles Hicks Dyer died suddenly at the town farm this morning. He was quite eccentric, and though possessed of some property, went to the farm to live a few years ago of his own accord. He ate his supper as usual last night.

The S. H. Club had its meeting last week with Mrs. William P. Carr. Luncheon was served and plans for work and recreation for the summer discussed.

Miss Bessie Croucher spent Easter in New Bedford.

The Woman's Christian Temperance Union will meet with Mrs. Abram L. Rathbone Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. B. C. Sherman spent Easter in New Bedford.

Mr. John Edwards Gray, who works in neglected fields for the Christian Endeavor and Woman's Christian Temperance organizations, spoke at Friends' Church Sunday morning and at Tiverton in the afternoon.

Mr. Carlton Macomber, who is a student at the University of Maine, at Orono in that state, is spending a week's vacation with his father, Mr. Isaac B. Macomber.

ANOTHER WONDER OF SCIENCE.

Biology has Proved that Dandruff is Caused by a Germ.

Science is doing wonders these days in medicine as well as in mechanics. Since Adam lived, the human race has been troubled with dandruff, for which no hair preparation has heretofore proved a successful cure until Newbro's Herpicide was put on the market. It is a scientific preparation that kills the germ that makes dandruff or scurf by digging into the scalp to get at the root of the hair, where it saps the vitality; causing itching scalp, falling hair, and finally baldness. Without dandruff hair must grow luxuriantly. It is the only destroyer of dandruff. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

"THE SMART SET" ONE NIGHT.

All the Remainder of the Week the Harcourt Comedy Company in Repertoire.

The Newport Opera House will be occupied this week by the Harcourt Comedy Company in a repertoire of plays, with the exception of Friday evening, when the musical comedy, "The Smart Set," will be presented for the benefit of Canonchet Lodge, No. 2439, G. U. O. O. F.

The Harcourt company will open its engagement with "Reaping the Whirlwind" and will present during the week "Red River," "Rip Van Winkle," "Soldier of France," "We Uns of Tennessee," "In the Heart of the Klondike," "Maid of the Mill" and "Son of Toil." Among the specialties introduced between the acts of the several plays is Matzoni, who gives an exhibition of getting away from difficult rope-tying, escaping from a straight jacket, and releasing himself from a box in which he is securely fastened by a committee from the audience.

The song numbers used in "The Smart Set" are full of character and sentiment, while most of them possess a distinct charm of healthy jingle, interpreted with unction and force by one of the best assorted sets of voices ever assembled for musical comedy. It is reported on good authority that for singing interest, "The Smart Set" organization is in the lead. Each successive season new and novel features supplant the attractions which have done adequate service. This year appears to be no exception, and so thorough has been the overhauling that the entire show is practically new. However, S H. Dudley and several of the other prominent comedians have been retained.

The attractions in Providence this week are "Ben Hur" at the Providence Opera House, Mary Shaw in "The Love that Blinds" at the Shubert, Kellar at the Empire, Dr. Jules Jordan's new opera, "As Once of Old," at Keith's and burlesque at the Westminster.

The Boston theatres offer the following for the week: Boston, "The Way to Kenmare;" Colonial, "Forty-Five Minutes from Broadway;" Empire, "Under Two Flags;" Globe, "Texas;" Hollis Street, "The Man Tree: Majestic, "The Earl and the Girl;" Park, "Friend Hannah;" Tremont, "The Walls of Jericho."

The new announcements at the New York theatres are Sousa's new comic opera, "The Free Lance," at the New Amsterdam; William H. Crane in "The American Lord" at the Hudson, "What the Butler Saw" at the Garrick, "Mrs. Temple's Telegram" at the Madison Square, "The Rollicking Girl" at the New York, Mrs. Fiske in "Becky Sharp" at the Academy of Music, "Mr. Blarney from Ireland" at the Fourteenth Street, Arnold Daly in "Arms and the Man" at the Lyric, Miss Margaret Anglin in "Zira" at the Majestic, Francis Wilson in a new curtain raiser, "The Little Father of the Wilderness," at the Criterion, and "The Strength of the Weak" at the Liberty. The benefit for the Mrs. Gilbert memorial window fund will be held Tuesday afternoon at the Knickerbocker and the benefit for the Home for Destitute Crippled Children will take place at the Broadway Thursday afternoon.

Henry W. Savage's production of Jesse Lynch Williams's play, "The Stolen Story," will have its premiere at the Tremont Theatre, Boston, May 6.

Kathryn Kidder will make her reappearance on the stage shortly in a new play, by her husband, Louis K. Anspacher, entitled "The Embarrassment of Riches," which is to be produced by the Converse-Peters Company. Bruce McRae will have one of the important roles.

William Collier and his company will sail this week from San Francisco for Australia, where he will make a tour of the principal cities in a repertoire of plays, to include "The Dictator" and "On the Quiet."

William Gillette sailed last week for Europe to enjoy a needed rest and to confer with Charles Frohman over plans for next season.

At the Criterion Theatre next Tuesday Francis Wilson will present a one-act play, "The Little Father of the Wilderness," by Austin Strong and Lloyd Osborne. The playlet, which will precede "The Mountain Climber," presents Mr. Wilson in a serious role.

To support Elizabeth Kennedy in her next season's tour in "Mizpah," Charles Dalton, Frank Losee, Lillian Kingsbury, Mrs. Louise Rial and Helen Wainwright have been engaged. "Mizpah" will open its season in Chicago September 2, at McVicker's Theatre, and will then be brought to New York for a run at the Academy of Music.

"A Society Circus," now at the Hippodrome, in New York, will begin a long road tour next October, traveling by special train of 24 cars and visiting all the larger cities. "A Yankee Circus on Mars" also will be sent on tour again.

"The Submerged Tenth" is the title of the new play which Charles Klein, author of "The Lion and the Mouse" is writing for Henry B. Harris, who will produce it early next season.

Lawrence Ren, a well-known baritone formerly with "The Duchess of Dantzic" company, and William Corliss, an equally clever comedian, have been engaged by Henry W. Savage for important roles in the Rankin-Stange-De Koven opera, "The Student King."

Lawrence D'Orsay's season at Daly's Theatre will end next Saturday night, after which "The Embassy Ball" will go on tour. The comedy will be used by Mr. D'Orsay early next season, and all out the new year he will appear in a new comedy now being written by Paul Potter.

Charles Frohman has commissioned Seymour Hicks to write the libretto of a musical play for production in England and the United States. The subject will be a modern version of "As You Like It."

Oscar Hammerstein has secured Mme. Melba has had negotiations with Mme. Nordica for his next year's opera company, but Mr. Conreid has concluded negotiations with Mme. Eames and she will sing in the Metropolitan Opera House, New York, next winter.

"Leah Kleschna," which has been played by Mrs. Fiske and the Manhattan Company for two seasons, was acted for the last time by them at the Academy of Music, New York, Saturday night. The play has had nearly 500 performances, a record excelled only in Mrs. Fiske's repertoire by "Becky Sharp," which she has revived on several occasions, and will present again this evening.

Mrs. Leslie Carter, who is appearing in Chicago, is to give a special performance in the Grand Opera House in that city Thursday for Mme. Sarah Bernhardt, who will be there at the same time. Mrs. Carter by telegraph invited Mme. Bernhardt to attend the performance of "Zaza" and received the reply of acceptance.

Henry B. Harris will revive under distinguished social auspices Robert Browning's "A Blot in the 'Scutcheon," at the Hudson Theatre, New York, Monday, April 30. Grace Elliston, now appearing in "The Lion and the Mouse," will again be seen as Mildred Treshaw, the role in which she made one of the greatest successes of her career.

The new Sousa opera, "The Free Lance," produced for the first time on any stage at the Court Square Theatre Springfield, Mass., last week, proved a success and another triumph for the march king.

Contracts were signed last week whereby Lillian Russell will star under the management of Joseph Brooks next season. It will not be in opera, but in a series of comedies that Miss Russell will appear. She will begin her season in the Savoy Theatre about October in a play from the French entitled "The Happiness of Women." Under the title of "Le Bonheur des Dames" it has been played in Paris by Mme. Jeanne Granier. Miss Russell's contract with Mr. Brooks is for 35 weeks. It will be the first time she has appeared in plays without music.

"Joe" Weber and Lew Fields opened their Music Hall in New York ten years ago, May 7. Mr. Weber, who retained the old stand after the comedians parted, is preparing a celebration for the tenth anniversary which promises to be worth going miles to see. Mr. Weber and the members of his company last Thursday night helped Messrs. Thompson & Dundy to celebrate the first anniversary of the Hippodrome, and the latter are preparing to return the compliment tenfold. Frederick Thompson has decided that a parade of all the elephants and other animals at the Hippodrome down Broadway to the Weber Music Hall and a serenade for Mr. Weber by the Hippodrome orchestra and its employes will be in order for that night, and he and his assistants are now at work on the plans for the celebration. One of the after-features of the event will be the appearance in the music hall lobby of the Hippodrome's baby elephant, who will stay through the performance of "Twiddle Twaddle." After the performance Mr. Weber's company will have a dinner at the music hall, at which many prominent patrons of the little theatre will be present.

Through the efforts of Mrs. A. L. Erlanger, the Broadway Theatre has been procured for next Thursday afternoon, for the annual benefit for the New York Home for Destitute Crippled Children, New York's worthiest charity. Mrs. Erlanger will have the assistance of a fine list of volunteers, who have tendered their services for this occasion, among whom are Fritzi Scheff, Elsie Janis, Joseph Weber and Marie Dressler, George M. Cohan, Joseph Cawthorn, Otis Skinner, Lee Harrison, Gus Rogers, Joe Kane, Corinne and Bessie Devoe, Ethel Levey, Nella Bergen, Joe Hart and Carrie Demar, Otis Harlan, Truly Shattuck, Hallen and Fuller and Jeannette Lowrie.

A SPRING SONG.

[Florence Scollard Brown, in Boston Transcript.]

The Spring has come—the bees a-hum
Around the orchard spray,
The buds nestle, the wings awhir,
O Shower Summer on her way;
'Tis here at last—the winter's past,
O songster, full of cheer!
The sowing time—the growing time,
The budding o' the year.

The brook set free, to song of glee,
Tunes every weary heart,
And yet the strain is half of pain,
The smiles and teardrops start.
It turns one back across life's track
To dwell 'mid memories dear—
The leaving time, the grieving time
The saddest o' the year.

The flowering time, the showering time,
Of misty skies and clear,
The teeming time, the dreaming time,
The sweetest o' the year!

"He's nothing but a hypocrite. Isn't it disgusting for a man to use his religion as a cloak?"

"Yes, and what's more, it's foolish, for religion such as his is necessarily so flimsy that he's liable to catch cold in it."—[Philadelphia Press.

"When a young man tries to kiss you, you should give him a good smack on the ear."

"Charlie tried it last evening, mamma, and I gave him a good smack on the mouth; at least, I think it was a good one, because he teased me for another."—[Houston Post.

A man was watching a parade when another man crowded in front of him. The first wanted the other to get out of the way, but instead of asking him to do so in a simple, plain way, he said: "You are not opaque, are you?"

"No, sir, O'Brien," the other man replied politely. "O'Brien is me name, sir."—[Zion's Herald.

Two groups of persons were seated in a railway station. One consisted of a fashionably attired pair, the other of a pair who looked as if they were from the country. They had been there only a few minutes when a girl came in whose complexion was as nearly perfect as anything in the world ever is. While she was buying her ticket the young man remarked to the lady with him:

"Isn't Miss Cranford a beauty? Her complexion is as perfect as a rose."

At the same time the other man clutched his wife's arm and whispered: "Lord, Nan, hasn't that girl got a purty hide?"—[Lippincott's.

TO CARRY OUT REFORMS.

Judge George Turner Advocates Convention to Amend Constitution.

SPOKANE, Washn., April 16.—A convention to amend the constitution of the United States so that many reforms and laws demanded by the people may be carried out is advocated by Judge George Turner, formerly United States Senator, who has recently returned from Washington, D. C. A provision for the calling of such a convention is made in an article of the constitution, although never in the history of this country has it been applied.

"I am in favor of having a convention to amend the constitution called," said Judge Turner last night "I believe that there is an urgent demand for such a convention. In my opinion it is the only way by which this necessary legislation can be passed to select United States Senators by popular vote.

"There is an amendment needed to the constitution to make possible an income tax law. Such a convention would make possible an income tax law. Such a convention would make possible a uniform divorce law, and also the federal control of life insurance matters as advocated by President Roosevelt. The convention could go over the entire constitution."

THE PEEP OF THE INDEPENDENT COAL PRODUCERS.

The great coal companies which combine the functions of coal miners and coal carriers have not entirely exterminated the independent producers, though they have absorbed most of them and have the rest pretty thoroughly at their mercy. The independents are said to have uttered a feeble peep at the terms on which the big companies seemed willing to settle the controversy with the miners, which Mr. Baer has not condescended to make public.

In the event of an increase of wages or other concession to the miners which should add to the cost of coal the big companies proposed to add as much or more to the price of coal at tidewater. Of course no one is disposed to stand a loss which he can shove off upon the public. But the big companies pay the independents for their coal 65 per cent of the tidewater price, keeping 35 per cent for freight. Now, if they should add 15 cents a ton to the selling price of coal they would keep 35 per cent of that 15 cents as well as 35 per cent of the present price, though they would be hauling no more coal. They have undoubtedly charged more to the public than the award of the strike commission cost them, so that they have made money out of the results of the strike. It was apprehended by the independent producers that the big companies were about to make money out of them as well as out of the public, and they wrote to Mr. Baer demanding all of any increase that should be made in the selling price of their coal; that letter Mr. Baer has not made public.

The independent producers will take such terms as the coal roads give them, and the more discredited they may be with these terms the readier they will be to sell out to the coal roads upon terms satisfactory to the latter.

ENGLAND'S PAUPER PROBLEM.

England is finding that she is taking care of too many paupers and it is proposed to reduce the number by putting at work some of the able-bodied but idle charges which the country has been supporting, so that the nation may reap some advantage from this class which has been feeding at the public crib. The people of England have no intention of withholding aid from any who are really deserving and are incompetent to take care of themselves, but those who could work if they would it is proposed shall no longer be supported entirely by the government or philanthropic institutions and individuals. This is only a fair proposition and can be objected to by no one of a reasonable disposition. There is no good reason why the shiftless and the lazy should become public charges if they are able to work, as many of this class are.

It is claimed, and not unreasonably, that the present system of giving aid to paupers who are able-bodied enlarges the number of those who are the recipients of that money, and England has become tired of doing this sort of work when the country might save the needless expense and use the savings in giving more and better attention to those who are really in need. This is no new problem which England is facing. It has confronted other nations, and is by no means unknown in this country. Mendicacy stares into the face of the people and idle and lazy pauperism flaunts itself before the general gaze. To aid only those who need and deserve assistance is the great goal in this direction, and when that is reached there will be few idle paupers. The helpless and the feeble among the indigent should be given all the attention they need, but not a dollar should be spent needlessly for the lazy and the shiftless. This truth England is finding out, and with characteristic energy is promptly setting about the task of remedying the evil.

PHILADELPHIA'S FRANKLIN CELEBRATION.

Philadelphia is inviting allusions to her reputed slowness, in making her public celebration of the Franklin bicentenary in April instead of January. There were some private celebrations in January, but the big celebration for which the state appropriated money occurs this week. The confusion of Franklin's birthday with his death day adds an element of funereal humor to the situation. The Philadelphia Press urges that "this city should be bathed from one end to the other with flags on the two hundredth anniversary of Franklin's birth. Up with old Glory!" It happens that April 17 is the anniversary of the old philosopher's death, but it isn't 200 years since the wise old man died. It was 200 years on January 6, old style, or 17, new style, since his birth. The weather is more favorable for celebrations in April than in January, although a celebration of this sort will be mostly indoors and the weather does not count for much. But selecting the occasion of a man's death for the celebration of his birth, and honoring a man by municipal decorations of joyful hues and illuminations on the anniversary of his death, is slightly unusual.

IS RHODE ISLAND FOR SALE?

President Faunce of Brown University, at the college dinner given in Providence Saturday night, referring to President Roosevelt's address regarding "the man with the muck rake," declared that "Rhode Island is not a state for sale. Some of the men in this state have had their votes for sale," he said, "but it is for men to make such a thing impossible. The state as a whole is not for sale. I have seen an article which is entitled 'The Treason of the Senate.' The Senate of the United States is not a treasonable body and contains as many honorable and enlightened men as other bodies of equal size in the world."

Mr. Rathbone Gardner, who spoke later at the same dinner, did not agree with President Faunce. He said the state had been for sale and had been bought with money. "Its greatest gift—its representation in the national council—has been sold time and again," stated Mr. Gardner, "not because the people of Rhode Island are not honest, patriotic and enlightened, but because the men who should have been their leaders have been indifferent."

The fireproof building which burns like a lumber yard is a familiar joke as well as a solemn fact. But when the owners of a 28-story hotel in New York which cost $5,000,000 decide to put no insurance on it, there is a presumption that the actually fireproof building with really fireproof trimmings and fireproof furniture has been found. The amount of wood in the inside trim and the furnishings of what is literally a fireproof building is hard to realize except when the fire occurs.

The present week is likely to break all records for the landing of immigrants at New York. With various ships already arrived and approaching the port, it is expected that at least 50,000 foreigners will have reached New York by Thursday morning, and that it will take nearly two weeks for the officials to make their examinations of the new-comers. These immigrants are coming from Great Britain and Ireland, Russia, Italy, Poland, Austria, Scotland, Germany, France and Arabia.

President Roosevelt's speech about "The man with the muck rake" has given his critics food for further disapproval. His views regarding the taxing of fortunes are regarded by many as decidedly socialistic in tendency at least.

The railway rate regulation bill is still before the Senate, but it is not very still. Several Senators are yet to talk on the measure.

Springfield, Mo., has disgraced itself by its mob lynching of negroes.

It was hardly a glorious Easter, if one considers the weather.

The General Assembly will conclude its duties this week.

STRIKES OF EARLY DAYS.

[New York Tribune.]

Practically all the anthracite coal mined in the United States comes from less than 500 square miles of territory—to be exact, 488 square miles—lying between the Delaware and Susquehanna rivers, and including the Schuylkill and Carbon, in Pennsylvania. The three districts into which this coal field is divided are known as the Wyoming, Lehigh and Schuylkill regions. While the existence of hard coal has been traced back to 1768, the earliest record of its use as a fuel is in 1791, although it did not become an industry, even in a limited sense, until the opening of the Summit Hill mines in 1820, and the beginning of the operation of the Schuylkill canal from Port Carbon to Philadelphia, five years later. A peculiarity of the hard coal deposit is that the change is sharply made on leaving the mountainsides, where it is imbedded, into valleys where not a single pound can be found.

In the early days of the anthracite industry wages were low until the use of anthracite for smelting purposes and the opening of new railroads gave them an upward tendency. During the Civil war, when there was a scarcity of labor, the wages advanced almost 20 per cent. Toward the close of the war contract miners made as high as $150 and $200 a month. Later on there was a decrease in wages. With the decrease came discontent. An organization was formed and a leader elected in the person of John Siney. The organization was known as the Miners and Laborers' Benevolent Association. Siney was its first president, and by that fact leader of the miners, as John Mitchell is today. In those days the employers lost no time in arguing the question with the miners. When they said no, that ended it.

All attempts to hold conferences or "submit" the question were out of order. The employers said wages could not be raised, and the subject rested there until the miners, under Siney's prodding, clinched their argument with shutting down the mines. A strike was ordered, the first strike in the anthracite region, to go into effect May 10, 1869. The order was issued April 22. The strike included all classes of workers except those engaged in timbering and repairing. The suspension was general throughout the anthracite region, with the exception of the Pennsylvania Coal Company and the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western Coal Company. These miners had decided to postpone suspension until some future date. In the upper regions this first strike continued from April to August—five months. Restriction of output was the main object of the strike, as stated later on.

Sliding scales were established in the Lehigh and Schuylkill districts in 1869. When the operators found that these scales worked to their disadvantage, they lowered the "bases," whereupon the next year there was another strike, the men remaining idle for several months. In the mean time the operators in the northern field, by paying better wages, kept their men at work, and obtained permanently much of the trade of the upper regions.

Arbitration was first introduced into the anthracite district in 1871, after a series of disastrous strikes, which sorely affected both the operators and the miners. The arbitration was first tried in the Schuylkill region, where, under Judge Elwell, who was arbiter, provision was made for regular boards of arbitration to decide future disputes.

In this year was the first combination of the railroad companies to compel individual operators to pay the companies' scale of wages. In 1873 the operators and the companies combined to maintain prices and to restrict production. The sliding scale of wages that went into effect in 1869 was continued in 1872 by means of an agreement made between the Anthracite Board of Trade and the Miners and Laborers' Benevolent Association. It was revised in 1874 and the wages fixed on a basis of $2.50 a ton at Port Carbon as a minimum.

With the exception of one year, 1875, when there was trouble between the men and the operators, this sliding scale remained in force until October of 1900. The strike of 1876, which was ordered in 1875 by the association against a reduction in wages, lasted six months, and during these months the anthracite region saw more real misery and poverty than it has seen on any strike since. January 1, 1888, the Knights of Labor, which was now the dominant factor in labor organizations, ordered a strike. The miners went back to work inside of two months at the old rate of wages. This was a staggering blow to the Knights of Labor. The next strike was the six weeks' conflict of 1900, and later came the long-drawn-out strike of 1902. Both strikes left the miners, especially those with large families, in an impoverished condition.

FEEDING ORANGE TREES.

[New York Sun.]

The biggest and best oranges are not grown on good soil. Fruit growers are finding out that they can improve on nature when it comes to feeding a tree. If they want to get the finest fruit, they no longer pick out the rich, alluvial soils. Very fertile land produces citrus trees of rank growth, which often bear enormous crops; but the finest and highest-priced fruit grows on nearly sterile soil.

This strange state of affairs is thus explained: In fertile soils plant food is seldom properly balanced. Neither is it present in just the right condition for producing the best fruit. For some reason it isn't possible to influence fruit through the medium of a rich, fertile soil. It doesn't seem to be a good medium for chemical fertilizers, whereas a soil which is almost sterile makes the right base upon which to build up ideal conditions. Trees may be started in it and then fed with just such chemicals as will produce the finest quality of fruit.

Old-fashioned fertilizing with muck and barn manure is being abandoned in favor of modern chemical fertilizers. The old method produced coarse, thick-skinned oranges and often caused disease in the trees. The Department of Agriculture, in strongly advising the use of chemicals, gives the following definite rules:

To obtain a fruit with thin rind, use nitrogen from inorganic sources in moderate quantities, with considerable potash and lime. To sweeten the fruit, use sulphate of ammonia in considerable abundance, decreasing the amount of potash. To render the fruit more acid, increase the amount of potash and use nitrogen from organic sources.

If it is desired to increase the size of the fruit, apply a comparatively heavy dressing of nitrogen in same organic form and slightly decrease the other elements.

Die back, a serious malady, is in all probability the result of overfeeding with nitrogenous manures from organic sources. These manures, if used at all, should be applied with great caution. Foot rot, although not primarily due to improper methods of fertilization, is no doubt considerably influenced by this cause. Insect diseases are also apparently influenced by the use of fertilizers, organic manures rendering the trees more liable to injury from this source than chemical fertilizers.

AROUND RHODE ISLAND.

Charges Preferred Against Chief of Police of Providence.

State Convention of the Order of Eagles Illegally Called—Two Soldiers' Home Deaths.

Charges were filed Saturday with the Providence Police Commission against Chief of Police Frank A. Matthews by Rev. A. B. Cristy, superintendent of the Rhode Island Temperance League. The complaint, which is supported by two long and circumstantial affidavits, declares that Chief Matthews has made an attempt to destroy Mr. Cristy's good name and to conspire with others to that end. The charges are the outcome of the attempt to regulate the penny picture vaudeville places throughout the city, and to expose certain transactions connected with them. The supporting affidavits are signed by Samuel H. Meinhold and John H. Nash, both interested in picture-machine establishments. The chief of police, when approached Saturday night for an interview in connection with the charges, declined to make any statement for publication, and refused to refer to the matter in any way.

An attempt to hold a state convention of the Fraternal Order of Eagles at Pawtucket Friday afternoon resulted in a failure, after 21 delegates from the eight aeries in Rhode Island had discussed for several hours the legality of the call which had been issued for the assembly by Worthy State Deputy Andrew F. McGrath. The upshot of the matter is that a new call will be issued and a state convention will be held some time during the early part of next month. The session was held in the hall of Pawtucket Aerie. All the aeries in the state had delegates present, and a temporary organization was effected, with State Deputy Andrew F. McGrath of Pawtucket as chairman, and John F. Murphy of Riverpoint as secretary. John C. Conley, Jr., Mr. Ralph A. Boucher and John J. Crawley were elected a committee on credentials and reported 21 delegates entitled to sit in the convention. A motion to make the temporary organization permanent was passed, but in a two hours discussion, which followed this action, it was pointed out that the call for the convention had not been issued as provided by the constitution governing the order, and it was finally voted to adjourn, with the provision that another convention, called in the proper manner, will be held next month. A social meeting followed the business session. The object of the meeting was to form a state body, similar to the grand body of the Foresters, whose duty it shall be to periodically visit the various aeries in Rhode Island and also to act as a board of arbitration. At the present time the state deputy, who receives his appointment from the grand worthy president, is the real head of the organization in this state, and the duties of his office require so much time that it is desired to elect a state body, which can transact the duties required of it in a shorter time and possibly more satisfactory manner than is now possible.

Two deaths have occurred at the Soldiers' Home, Bristol, within the past few days, both veterans having been members of Rhode Island regiments during the Civil war. Saturday morning Henry Young, brother of Roger G. Young, a well known tobacconist of Providence, died after a long illness incidental to advancing age. He was born in Providence 74 years ago, and his military record, according to the adjutant general's report, shows that he was enrolled August 8, 1862, in the Seventh Rhode Island infantry, and mustered in September 9, 1862. He originally served as sergeant of Company D, was promoted to second lieutenant of Company H and mustered in as such March 1, 1863. August 14, 1863, he was promoted to first lieutenant, to date from July 1, 1863, but was never mustered in as such. April 27, 1864, he was discharged by reason of surgeon's certificate. Frederick A. Fry, who was well known in French and jewelry circles of Providence, died Thursday at the home. He was 66 years of age, was born at Harrisville, Conn., and was enrolled as a private of Company G, Tenth Rhode Island infantry, May 26, 1862, and was mustered in the same day. He was discharged June 24, 1862, at Tenallytown, D. C., because of physical disability. He was among the first veterans to enter the Soldiers' Home at Bristol when that institution was opened, May 14, 1891, and has been an inmate there practically all the time since. For the past two months he had been confined to the hospital.

Easter morning fire destroyed Lincoln Park, between Norwood and Hillsgrove, Lincoln Park, a village of about 10 houses, which has been in existence about 12 years, was never before the scene of a fire. It was about 6:30 when William Turner and Austin Allen, nearby residents, first noticed columns of smoke pouring from the roof of Jefferson Bailey's house, on Lincoln avenue. It took but five or ten minutes for the entire village to be aroused. Men, women and children poured forth from every house to witness the first fire in the history of the village, and do what they could to fight the flames. In all probability the house had been burning half an hour before it was first noticed, for by the time the crowd had gathered the second floor was filled with smoke and flame, and entrance to the upper rooms was impossible. The house burned to the cellar, leaving nothing but the red bricks standing. The loss is estimated to be about $2,500, over half of which is covered by insurance.

STATE OF RHODE ISLAND AND PROVIDENCE PLANTATIONS.

To Georgette Brown, Frederick S. G. D'Hauteville, Alice G. Vanderbilt and the Heirs of William C. Anthony, deceased, and to all others interested in the land hereinafter mentioned. (Seal)
GREETING:—

WHEREAS The Board of Aldermen of the City of Newport on the Sixth day of February, A. D. 1906 did appoint Patrick J. Boyle, Joseph B. Pike and James McLeish to survey, bound and mark out the widening of Cogeshall Avenue from the south side of Morton Park to the north side of Ruggles Avenue to a uniform width of about 38 feet, which had been by said Board previously adjudged necessary, who have duly made a report and return in the premises, that they have surveyed, bounded and marked out said widening in manner following, that is to say, the widening of said Cogeshall Avenue from Morton Park to Victoria Avenue in conformity to the direction of the Board of Aldermen, running through lands of Georgette Brown, of Frederick S. G. D'Hauteville, Alice G. Vanderbilt and of the heirs of Willam C. Anthony, deceased, as shown by said Return and the map thereto attached.

You are therefore hereby notified to appear, if you shall see fit, before said Board, on Thursday, the twenty-sixth day of April, 1906, at 8 o'clock P. M., at the Aldermanic Chamber in the City Hall, and be heard for or against the reception of the said Return and Report.

Signed, and sealed by order and in behalf of said Board of Aldermen, by David Stevens, Clerk of said Board, on this Third day of April, A. D. 1906.

DAVID STEVENS, Clerk.

DISAPPOINTING EASTER WEATHER.

It hardly seems necessary to say that the weather furnished Newport and vicinity yesterday was a disappointment to about everybody. Though rain was predicted, the hope that "springs eternal" held out to the last; but the predictions were gone and it rained. It simply threatened in the morning, with a few slight showers, and it blew; but it was a brave young woman who ventured out in anything that looked gorgeous in the millinery or clothing line. In the afternoon it did rain, and kept it up just long enough to spoil the afternoon. Then a fog set in, and at night it was difficult to see across the street. In the evening, however, there was a big turnout on the streets of people who were tired of remaining indoors, but the fog put a veto on any particular display of finery.

Not only were the girls disappointed but the young men were as well, though perhaps not quite so much. While the children with new clothes could not come out and show them, and the story about the sun dancing on Easter morn had to be laid aside for another year. With such weather as Newport was favored with this morning, there would have been a great Easter parade yesterday and every one would have felt better.

THE FIRST BUTTERFISH.

The first butterfish of the season was caught today in the west bay by Philip Tourje and is on exhibition at Burlingame & Carry's market. Mr. Tourje says he has been fishing in the bay for 20 years, and this is the earliest that he has seen a butterfish. Usually it is May before the "butters" appear, and the scup have been here some time before that. The scup are not expected to be much behind the first butterfish. Tautog and herring are running fairly well.

—Mr. A. W. Brice and family have returned from their annual vacation trip in New York and New Jersey.

—Miss Gertrude Leary Sullivan and Masters Joseph and Willie Sullivan are visiting relatives in New York and Yonkers.

—The Block Island boat brought over 100 barrels of fish and 37 calves this morning, showing that the Islanders are still busy.

—The bicycle riders are having their inning just now, as the roads are comparatively dry and the cyclists are coming out in force.

—Herbert L. Dyer has sold, through his Broadway office, for William H. Harris, his house and land at 11 Congdon avenue, to Professor Louis J. Louis and wife.

—C. H. Wrightington has rented for Thomas P. Peckham, agent for the Sherman estate, the upper half of the house at 27 Division street to Mrs. Annie E. Martin.

—A. O'D. Taylor has rented as trustee for the Beattie land, about 14 acres off Beacon street and the West Main road in Middletown, to Alexander Campbell, for agricultural purposes.

—The Edison phonograph display in Barney's window during the past week made quite an impression upon one of the company's representatives who happened to come to Newport and saw it.

—The storm yesterday did not prevent good travel on both the Providence and Fall River cars. Many went to Providence, intent upon taking in the base ball game at Rocky Point, but were dissappointed.

—The new contractor for grading the lawn of the Government Landing has begun levelling the piles of earth which had been carted there. A number of trees are to be planted, and it is hoped to have a good turf on the landing this season.

—Captain Lewis and his schooner yacht Cruiser have gone. The Cruiser lay at the City dock, and for some time the captain and his assistants have been busy making her ready to leave in ship-shape style, and finally the work was completed and she sailed.

—The wreck of steamer Plymouth was to have left early yesterday morning, in tow of steamers City of Boston and New Hampshire. The Boston waited until late yesterday morning, but the weather conditions did not seem to favor the attempt to make a start.

—By the burning of the stables of the racing association at Lexington, Ky., yesterday, Mr. Oliver H. P. Belmont lost a two-year-old colt. Wampum, which was considered a promising race horse and was valued at $10,000. The colt was sired by the famous stallion Ornament.

—Mr. A. J. Ward is critically ill.

—United States Hotel arrivals include Joseph F. Emmons and Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Stein of New York, G. H. Waterhouse and J. F. Taylor of Boston, Mr. and Mrs. B. S. Whyte of Philadelphia and J. O. Anthony of Providence.

—Mr. C. D. Connolly was in the city today, arranging for the appearance at the Opera House Monday evening, April 23, of Annie Russell in her new play, "Friend Hannah," which is now for two weeks at the Park Theatre, Boston, and will come here direct from the Boston engagement.

—Steamer Bristol of the Newport & Providence line left the shipyard early this afternoon for Bristol. Upon the completion of work on her she will be placed on the line and the Sagamore will come here for an overhauling. It is the plan to have both boats ready for early work this year.

—The flattran lot at Broadway and Bliss road has been used by the youth of the northern section of the city as a playground, without objection on the part of the owner. This morning because of complaint on the part of a neighbor, about 30 boys were driven away from there by the police.

—This morning the Gas Light Company began the work of laying the new gas main in Thames street, to replace the old pipe, which has become too small for the demand made on it. The new pipe is 16 inches in diameter, and the present arrangement is to lay it as far north as Howard street.

—There was a busy scene at the New York dock last night, when many Newporters who had come on for Easter left for New York. It was impossible to secure a stateroom for some time before the day of the trip, and the conditions for tonight are about the same, the Easter travel being very heavy.

—William E. Brightman has sold for George Gordon King, to Nells Larson, two lots of land on Atlantic street, containing about 10,000 square feet, known as lots 5 and 6 on the Wilbar farm tract. Mr. Brightman has also rented to Mrs. Alice Davis the upper flat No. 10 in the new Realty building on the westerly side of Colonial street.

—Dr. William Davis, who has resided in Newport during the past nine years, returned today to his native state, New Jersey, where he will continue the practice of his profession as successor to the late mayor and physician, Dr. H. M. Bruce of Perth Amboy. Mrs. Davis is a native of Newport, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Andrews. Dr. and Mrs. Davis will occupy the Bruce residence.

—The contract for the new stable for Dr. C. V. Mattison on Annandale road has been awarded to B. F. Tanner for the woodwork and to an out-of-town mason who has always done the doctor's work. It will be stone for the first story and wood for the upper parts, and will go in the space which the doctor cleared by buying the places between his grounds and Annandale road.

—Despite the weather, the Greeks went to work yesterday afternoon when the wind shifted, and began setting lobster pots for the season, which opened yesterday. Today they are still busy, and they will be busy at this work until the middle of next month, setting in places as fast as the weather conditions allow. There is already a noticeable decrease in the size of the piles of new lobster pots about the wharf.

—Mr. and Mrs. William P. Dawley entertained a house party yesterday on the occasion of the coming from New York of their daughter, Ellen, to spend Easter. She was accompanied by Mrs. George Gray, sister of Mr. Charles Matley, and her son and nephew; also Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Matley, who recently spent their honeymoon in this city. Other members of the party were Misses Lawton and Lee and Messrs. Richards and Matley.

—The comparatively new word "chemistry," is the offspring of the old word "alchemy" which had an air of occult mystery behind it. But when the chemistry of water is now discussed the new views regarding atoms and molecules come to the front, and the composition of water in all its bearings lies open for analysis. The subject, therefore, to be brought before the Natural History Society will admit of varied treatment by the lecturer, Mr. H. F. Krafft. It is to be illustrated by experiments.

NO HOUSES IN FLOOD'S PATH.

Dam at Crystal Lake, West Canaan, N. H., Gives way.

WEST CANAAN, N. H., April 16.—Giving way under the pressure of the waters of Crystal lake, swollen by the fast melting snow during the past week and by yesterday's heavy downpour of rain, the dam at the outlet of the lake went out late last night. A great wall of water rushed through the valley carrying away several highway bridges and doing extensive damage to the roads in the vicinity. No one was injured, as no houses were in the path of the flood, and no person happened to be passing along the roads in that part of the town when the dam gave way. Much of the water was cared for by the small stream which connects Crystal lake with Mascoma lake, while another factor in preventing more serious damage was the presence of several wide meadows between the two lakes, over which the muddy torrent spread itself, thus losing much of its force.

With the dam was carried away the fish screen, which has protected the valuable fisheries of the lake, which have given enjoyment to the many summer visitors who annually come to the hotels and cottages along the shore. It is feared that the fisheries are ruined, and that it will be a number of years before they can be restored to their former excellence. The water in the lake was reduced to a very low level. It is expected that the dam will be reconstructed at an early date. Crystal lake is about two miles in length.

SPEED OF 75 MILES AN HOUR.

Plan to Run Trains Between Chicago and New York in 10 Hours.

CHICAGO, April 16.—Ten hours between Chicago and New York on trains operated by electricity and making an average speed of 75 miles an hour is the plan of incorporators of the Chicago & New York electric air line railroad. The scheme appears to be far in the future, however. It is asserted that "some of the right of way has been secured," but the projectors decline to say how much. They hope to have the road in operation in five years.

According to the statement of Jonathan D. Price, president of the Co-Operative Construction Company, which was organized to build the road, the line will be 742 miles long, or 200 miles shorter than any steam road now connecting the two cities. Part of the line already has been surveyed.

In choosing a route, no attention is paid to whether the line runs through large cities or not. As now surveyed, the road will be eight miles south of South Bend, Ind., and at that point it is proposed to build a station and run a spur into the city. The same plan will be followed where the road passes near any other city. These spur lines will be connected with the street railway systems in each town.

ABOUT 100 WEAVERS AT WORK.

More Looms Running in Peace Dale Mills Than Before.

PEACE DALE, April 16.—With the arrival of 33 Italian weavers from Paterson, N. J., today, the weaving force at the Peace Dale Manufacturing Company's plant was swelled to about 100, but little less than the total number of weavers who went out on strike. According to the management, more looms are now being run, however, than under former conditions.

The dozen Philadelphia weavers who arrived here Friday and who refused to go to work in the mill because of the strike, left for their homes today, having secured their fare by means of a popular subscription throughout the village.

PROBATE COURT.

In the probate court this morning the will of Sarah E. Congdon was proved and letters testamentary were granted to William M. Congdon of Providence. The will of James E. Marden was proved and letters of administration with the will annexed were granted to James F. Marden, Jr. Letters of administration on the estate of Charles R. Barber were granted to Edwin S. Burdick, and on the estate of John L. Hatch to Lizzie K. Hatch. The guardian's account with the estate of Sarah E. Congdon was allowed. The inventories of the estates of Mary A. Sullivan, James W. Langley and Patrick Meyrick were approved. Petitions for the sale of real estate of John W. Murphy and of personal estate of Matilda Wood were granted.

The petition for the sale of real estate of William S. Cranston was continued for further hearing. The administrator's first account with the estate of Mary Elizabeth Dennis was continued to April 16 at 4:15 p. m., and the administrator's second account with the estate of James Openshaw to April 21. The petition for probate of the will of John Chance and the administrator's first and final account with the estate of John F. Johnson were continued to April 23.

THE STREET RAILROAD FRANCHISE.

To the Editor of the News:

Let us hope that when the proposition for new privileges for the Old Colony Street Railroad Company comes before the city government of Newport the rights of the city will not, as always in the past, be neglected; and that those free passes to city officials will not cost the public too dear. In return for the right to carry freight through our streets, which will be asked, the representatives of the city should at least exact that the street railroad shall water Broadway at its own expense, or furnish and operate a sprinkling-car.

They might also be asked to agree to observe the city ordinance limiting the speed of their cars to eight miles an hour; and as soon as they have broken that agreement, they should be at once compelled to observe it. The clouds of dust raised by their cars are a menace to the public health—to say nothing of the very great annoyance caused to a large number of people.

NOT TOO LATE.

Newport, April 16, 1906.

EASTER MUSIC AT THE HOSPITAL.

One of the places which many will be pleased to know was not deprived of Easter gladness by the rain of yesterday was the Newport Hospital. Although they had a great deal of work to do at the morning and evening services, and the distances some of them had to travel back and forth were probably not small, Mr. Swan and his fine choir of Emmanuel Church, with Dr. Proctor as organist, went to the hospital, in spite of rain and distance. The hospital swarmed with choir boys—every one a credit in every respect to the church and to Mr. Swan—and when the word was given the anthems and the grand old Easter hymns rang out, well balanced, clear and strong, yet always musical, from the fine voices of the boys and men, to the joy of all who were privileged to be there to hear. After several numbers in one of the wards, the choir went to another, singing all the way, and so on, finally withdrawing singing when the round of the wards in which the condition of the patients permitted music (only one had to be omitted) had been completed. The patients and nurses, as well as those in charge at the hospital, greatly appreciated the singing. Even the babies put on their best behavior and enjoyed both the music and the company of the visitors.

On Palm Sunday, too, the patients had a musical treat which everybody enjoyed very much. There were hymns, solo singing by Mr. Thomas Livingston and 'cello solos by Mr. Leonard Jeter, with violin accompaniment by Mr. Walter Jeter, Colonel John Rogers was at the organ. Mr. Livingston's numbers had violin and 'cello accompaniment besides the organ, and were given with fine effect. The instrumental music by the Messrs. Jeter was something quite unusual, the accompaniment being on the violin alone, and entirely satisfying, the effect of the two instruments together charming everybody. The kindness of all these musicians, too, was much appreciated.

BREAK IN MISS GROSVENOR'S PROVIDENCE HOUSE.

A break was discovered at the residence of Miss Rose Grosvenor, 61 Angell street, Sunday morning. The police found that a pane of glass had been broken in the front door and that the door catch had been pushed back. The intruder had searched the house thoroughly and had turned out the contents of the bureau drawers, throwing them about the floor. Nothing of value appeared to have been taken; but that fact cannot be determined until Miss Grosvenor, who is in New York, can be communicated with and some person who is posted as to what had been left in the house can inspect the premises.

JAMESTOWN.

[Regular correspondence of the News.]

Miss Lippitt of Providence was in town today.

Mr. Herbert S. Weeden of Fall River is in town.

The pupils of St. George's School Newport, are at the Dumplings this afternoon on a picnic.

A large flock of wild geese, evidently tired from a long flight from the south, alighted off the Dumpling shore this morning. Several local gunners attempted to get a shot at them, but were unsuccessful.

A quantity of Canadian wood ashes has arrived in Newport for Mr. Alton Head and Mr. T. B. Stork and is being carted across the ferry to their farms here.

Captain C. L. Champlin of steamer Beaver Tail is taking a week's vacation. Captain A. G. Knowles is filling his place.

Lighter Eva of Fall River is expected to arrive this afternoon to assist in building the dock for the Enterprise line

NEW YORK NEWS LETTER.

New York Democrats Waiting to Embrace Bryan.

City Humiliated Because Empire State Has No Senator Able to Debate on Rate Bill.

[New York correspondence of the News.]

NEW YORK, April 14.—Much attention has been aroused in political circles over the Jefferson Day dinner of the Democratic Club to be held Monday evening, for then it is expected that the old line Democrats will whack Hearst and incidentally say friendly words of William J. Bryan in connection with the Presidential nomination in 1908. This casting of sheep's eyes at the peerless leader has been the chief event of local political phenomena of the past few days. Mr. Bryan is loafing along "somewhere east of Suez" just at present, probably all unconscious of how much fonder his absence has made the heart of the metropolitan Democrats grow. When Mr. Bryan returns he may thank Mr. Hearst for giving him New York. Fear of Hearst, with his universal ownership panacea for all ills, has caused the local Democrats to seek an antidote in Bryan, for Hearst has been looming very large in the eyes of New York since he so nearly beat McClellan for the mayoralty. Hearst has scented the Bryan boom and fears it. His papers no longer print the name of the Nebraskan, even in the smallest type. It is recalled that when Mr. Bryan came to New York in the 1896 campaign, the stalwarts of the Democratic Club looked coldly upon him, and he referred to the city as "The enemy's country." But all is changed now. The prospects are that, when he returns from his Oriental trip, a tugboat of these same stalwarts will hasten down the bay to hail him at Sandy Hook, and it will be roses, roses all the way from the Battery to the Democratic Club on upper Fifth avenue.

Since the discussion over the Hepburn bill promised to go down to history as one of the most masterly debates ever held in the Senate, the sense of humiliation has been deepening in the metropolis over the fact that the Empire state has no representative in the upper house with the ability to take even the smallest part in the debate on this most important question. No other city of the country takes more interest, certainly none has more cause to be interested, than New York, in the enactment of just and reasonable traffic laws, and this interest extends throughout the great shipping and manufacturing centres of the state. But the interest does not extend to the two representatives of the state in the Senate. The decrepit Platt apparently thinks that his whole duty consists in keeping his chair in the Senate chamber from dying out of the window, and Depew has not condescended to sit in the Senate since the rate discussion began. Meanwhile the representatives of state after state other than New York have risen in the Senate and added their best opinions to the remarkable debate. The speech of Senator Morgan of Alabama is the latest to attract attention in the metropolis, particularly that portion in which he pointed out that the Hepburn bill in its radical form would create "a great political machine in the interests of the Interstate Commerce Commission, clothed with more responsible power than any other political body in the world." Senator Morgan also said: "The people are not demanding that the constitution be violated in order to enable a commission to regulate rates."

Though Rev. George Houghton, pastor of the Little Church Around the Corner, would modestly disclaim any suggestion of a miracle, it is a fact that the deaf are being made to hear in his church. The telephone is the medium through which this is accomplished. Hanging to hooks on the backs of the pews are small receivers, which can be concealed in the palm of the hand, and these are connected by hidden wires with a transmitter in the pulpit. By a telephonic device called the auraphone, the instruments carry every word, even the clergyman's lowest tones. When the telephones were first put in use last Sunday a number of partly deaf persons in the congregation were able to hear the whole sermon for the first time in years. It is said that other city churches contemplate the adoption of a similar telephone system from pulpit to pews. By the new device the minister does not have to talk into the transmitter, but delivers his sermon in the usual way.

Gotham is having one good laugh out of the insurance muddle anyway. Nothing more amusing has occurred in many a day to excite metropolitan risibles than the controversy between President Peabody of the Mutual Life Insurance Company and Samuel Untermeyer, counsel for the International policy holders committee. Mr. Untermeyer spends all his spare time in shouting that Mr. Peabody is simply a sort of insurance Black Hand, attached to the Standard Oil strong arm, and the suits begun by his company to recover the million or so spent by the McCurdy family are merely fakes to divert the gallery and will never come to trial. "You're only a lawyer hired by Lawson to make a fuss," retorts Mr. Peabody. Then Mr. Peabody proceeds to assure everybody that he never, never could be a tool of the wicked Standard Oil, and Mr. Untermeyer solemnly declares that Lawson is not his master. Inasmuch as the new insurance laws are being slowly pounded through the state legislature, Father Knickerbocker thinks he can afford to laugh.

Thousands of persons gather every day about the huge enclosure where, in the very heart of the city, the excavation for the big underground terminal of the Pennsylvania railroad is being carried on by an army of men. The great wilderness of rock, sand and mud, covering twenty-eight and a half acres, is indeed one of the sights of the metropolis, for in it great steam shovels are plodding about, miniature freight trains loaded with refuse are steaming to and fro, great derricks are swinging, steam drills are biting deep into the rocks and great blasts of dynamite are constantly rending the hard foundation stone of Father Knickerbocker's island. A ton of dynamite is used each day in blasting. During the day some 1,800 laborers swarm over the excavation, and as soon as night sets in, their places are taken by a shift of 1,700 more, who work through the dark hours under the glare of great high-power electric lights and searchlights. The most spectacular part of the work is the operation of the great steam shovels, which, with their long necks and powerful jaws, gobble up whole mountains of earth and loose rock and resemble prehistoric monsters that have come back to life, with an accumulated appetite of several thousand years.

Important to Newport

Profit by This and Find Safeguard Against Many Ills.

Nothing is more important to Newport than the good health of her people. How can they fill their place in this busy town unless they are well?

No one trouble is responsible for more nervous ills, sleeplessness, general debility, weakness, back-aches, rheumatic pains, even ill-temper and peevishness, than indigestion.

Fortunately, a combination of remedies, called Mi-o-na stomach tablets, has been discovered that absolutely cures indigestion and restores to health and strength the whole digestive system.

So reliable is Mi-o-na in curing all forms of stomach weakness and troubles that Wright & Hay give a signed guarantee that the remedy will cost nothing unless it cures. Mi-o-na sells for 50 cents, and is invaluable to anyone who suffers with indigestion, nervousness or weak stomach.

LAWYERS CANNOT AGREE.

Still Wrangling Over Constitutionality of Rate Bill.

Hemenway a Go-Between for Senate and House—Five Civilized Tribes Not Wards of Nation.

[Washington correspondence of the News]

WASHINGTON, April 14.—The lawyers cannot agree, and how are the laymen to decide? Important Supreme Court decisions are made with five judges on one side and four on the other. The best lawyers in the Senate say that several features of the railroad rate bill are unconstitutional. They cannot agree among themselves upon amendments that will make it constitutional. There are as many different propositions for court review as there are constitutional lawyers in the Senate. Out of this chaotic condition a bill must come, but the kind of bill is unknown. When the lawyers disagree, who shall decide?

The United States Senate does not care to consider more than one thing at a time; hence during the debate on the railroad rate bill it is almost impossible to get Senators interested in other subjects. Some people think that the Panama canal legislation is important, but no one is paying any attention to it except the members of the inter-oceanic canal committee, and even a considerable number of them will abandon their committee room to listen to speeches on the rate bill. One reason why the debate on this measure has been so interesting up to the present time is because none of the speeches made has been for the purpose of killing time. The whole Senate is engrossed with the rate bill, and there is scarcely anything else that interests Senators.

Although James A. Hemenway of Indiana has been a Senator for more than a year he has not yet got over his fondness for the House of Representatives. He still maintains intimate relations with the Speaker, almost as close as when he was Uncle Joe's lieutenant on the appropriations committee by the Speaker's favor. It is said that this intimate relationship between Cannon and Hemenway is often used as a means of communication between Senators and the Speaker—that is, that Hemenway is sometimes authorized to speak semi-officially for the group of Senators who are credited with running the Senate. Hemenway is yet too new in the Senate to be in "the big six," but he is the kind of a man who will soon work rapidly in that direction.

"I'll blow you at the moon," as Hamlet would say," remarked Senator Bailey to Senator Spooner, when he was getting ready to make his great speech in reply to the Wisconsin Senator regarding the power of Congress over courts. Of course Spooner was not alarmed. These lawyers never are disturbed. I never saw one yet who would admit that he had been worsted in a constitutional argument.

As an illustration of the manner in which railroad rates are made, Senator Elkins relates an incident of a recent shipment of flour into his state. The consignment consisted of 20 carloads, and the shippers forced the railroads to make a reduction from their regular rates of $45 per car, which netted them $900. This was done, the Senator said, by threats to send the consignment by water or other routes until the railroads accepted the rate. Senator Elkins asserts that this was a loss to the railroads and of no value to the consumers because they would receive no benefit and that the whole amount of the reduction went to the middleman.

A group of members surrounded Joe Sibley one day on the floor of the House, and after the conversation had proceeded a short time one of the men began to lecture the Pennsylvanian.

"Sibley," he said, "everybody knows that you are a very wealthy man. No one knows how much money you've got. But I want to protest against the way you use your money among members of this House."

All this was said with such earnestness, without the semblance of a smile, that it disconcerted Sibley.

"What do you mean?" he asked.

"Why," answered the member, "you sit here among your fellow members and tear hundred dollar bills to pieces in a manner to show your utter contempt for money."

And then Sibley looked down and saw that while talking he had torn $100 into bits, thinking it was waste paper. Sibley had obtained the money a short time before from the sergeant-at-arms, and had it in his hand when he began to talk with his friends. By turning in all the pieces he got another bill.

Discussing the Five Civilized Tribes bill one day in the Senate, Senator Teller of Colorado made the emphatic declaration that these Indians were not the "wards of the nation." He insisted that they were no longer Indians, and, in fact, that is largely true, for they have been in a semi-civilized state a long time. They have intermarried with white people, and there are no longer any full-blooded Indians among them.

TORTURING PAIN.
Half This Man's Sufferings Would Have Killed Many a Person, But Doan's Cured Him.

Thousands of grateful people are telling every day how Doan's Kidney Pills cured them of distressing and dangerous kidney and bladder troubles.

Yet other thousands are suffering every day from these same ills. Why? They are either very negligent or very skeptical. Neglect of kidney disorders leads to dropsy, diabetes, Bright's disease and other fatal diseases.

Sincere, honest testimony like the following should convince every skeptic.

A. C. Sprague, stock dealer, of Normal, Ill., writes: "For two whole years I was doing nothing but buying medicines to cure my kidneys. I do not think that any man ever suffered as I did and lived. The pain in my back was so bad that I could not sleep at night. I could not ride a horse and sometimes was unable even to ride in a car. My condition was critical when I sent for Doan's Kidney Pills. I used three boxes and they cured me. Now I can go anywhere and do as much as anybody. I sleep well and feel no discomfort at all."

BEGGAR-RIDDEN NEW YORK.

The Metropolis Wide Open to "Touch Artists" Since the Abolishment of the Mendicant Squad.

[New York Sun.]

Every citizen of New York whose business takes him to the downtown district at night must have noticed the growth of the panhandling industry since the mendicancy squad was abolished by order of Police Commissioner Bingham. The order did not mean that the town should henceforth be wide open for mendicants. The suppression of beggars and grafters was put into the hands of the captains of the precincts; but the under world has taken it as glad tidings that New York is to be wide, wide open—a "good town," like Cincinnati or "Chi."

The word seems to have been passed through the underground world, and now the free Pullman—a brakebeam and a board—is bringing them in from their winter hunting grounds in the South and West. The three "hangouts" on the Bowery—one for "gay cats" and panhandlers, one for plain panhandlers and one for yeggmen, the aristocrats of graft—are coining money and turning 'em away.

It will be remembered, perhaps, that just after the mendicancy squad was abolished the panhandlers, together with a few "gay cats" and "schnorers" held a celebration in "The Goat," a saloon of reputation in the craft. Dances were danced by those who go on crutches all day; men who spend their evenings telling chance passers that they need just a dime to get a bed opened wine for the crowd. The sick were healed, the lame walked and the broke became rich. As a climax and afterpiece they kicked the excelsior stuffing out of a figure of James Forbes, head of the mendicancy squad.

The celebration lasted two days. At the end of that time, "Tin Leg" being pleasantly moved, started to take the town at its word. He went out to a stairway opening on the Bowery and "flopped." That is, he dropped down on the pavement with his stump before him, pulled a sad face and held out his hat for alms. He was doing fine when Policeman Hays came along and lifted him into the patrol wagon. "Tin Leg" is really short a leg, which he lost in a railroad accident. He was a carpenter and he made himself a leg out of wood sheathed with tin—hence the name.

The adventure of "Tin Leg" discouraged the practice of flopping, but it had no effect on panhandling. Neither did it hold back the merry influx which is making a beggars' fair of upper Park Row and the lower Bowery. Gay cats, yeggmen and panhandlers of eminence are arriving every day. Here is some of the latest society gossip from the lower world:

"Toledo Whitey" arrived in town recently and may be seen almost any fine afternoon in and about Exchange Place and Wall street. Whitey will be pleasantly remembered by his many friends as the ablest exponent of the "scab" game. He approaches brokers with the story that he is a non-union carpenter or something out of a job because the union won't give him a chance and he will never, never join a union. This has enabled Toledo Whitey to give many a pleasant social affair. Mr. Whitey stayed on his country place on an island in the East River up to January 25.

"Lipsky" may be found any fine evening on Fourteenth street. "Lipsky" has paralyzed hands, although not to an extent which prevents him from getting an easy grip on a beer glass. His trembling hands have taken in quite a little money since he arrived on the brake beam of a private car last week.

Big Billy Shannon and Billy Carson, popular touch artists from Chicago, have opened a studio on Broadway between Fourteenth and Forty-second streets. Some of the best society people have patronized them. The last time he was here Big Billy had a paralyzed hand. Unfortunately, the paralysis has transferred itself to his legs.

The Hotel Malloy at Roosevelt and Watey streets reports the best business and the gayest season for several years. A brilliant party was given there in honor of Toledo Whitey, the occasion being his return from six months sojourn in his country place. The brothers Root, Hoboken Dick and Gold Tooth English are pleasantly established again at Herald Square. They say that the graft was never so good. King Rudolph may join them in a few days.

James Forbes met an old friend on Forty-Second street the other night. Once Forty-Second street was the favored home of the beggars. Then the Charity Organization Society moved against it and cleared them all out. For three years the panhandlers have taken it for granted that this is forbidden territory. But a voice whined at the elbow of Forbes—and there was Brokenback Schmiddy, who has had just seventeen commitments for vagrancy and begging, and who for three years hasn't dared venture near the Grand Central Station than West Chester and the upper Bronx. Schmiddy was "flopping" his hat held out for alms.

Brokenback Schmiddy is really crippled. His father was a saloonkeeper and one day when a little boy he got a juvenile drunk and dislocated his hip and has been lame ever since. His crutch is his joy, for it is inlaid with colored wood—the work of Tin Leg when they were serving out a sentence together. Several times the prison authorities have offered to send him to the hospital to have his hip operated on, but he sternly refused. He needs it in his business.

There are three main hangouts of the beggars and underworld grafters. "The Goat," or the place which used to bear that name, belongs to the "gay cats," or plain tramps not promoted to be yeggmen, and to miscellaneous grafters. This place is the liveliest and gayest of all. Across Park row is the hangout of the pure panhandler. Farther along, on the Bowery, is the establishment of the yeggmen.

This is certainly an interesting place. The proprietor was once a yeggman of renown and skill. Since he opened his place he has grown greatly in wealth and respectability. Now he is thick with Tammany and may be a district leader some day. Downstairs the place is much like other Bowery saloons, but upstairs is the private clubroom of the yeggmen. No one who is introduced or who does not talk the yegg dialect may go up the stairs. One Illinois Harry, who knows every yeggman that ever was, stands by the stair to watch. The bartender is an ex-prize fighter in the middleweight division and the outsider who tries to go up those stairs does not do it again.

The yeggs—those tramps who travel with nitroglycerine in their kits for jobs on safes—blow more money in a night in this dingy upstairs room than goes into the wine account of any first-class club in New York. Champagne is the regular drink, and the place has so prospered that the proprietor has just moved into new and better quarters a few doors from his old stand.

DOING A GREAT WORK.

Secretary Shaw Says Sunday Schools Are Essential to America.

NEW YORK, April 16.—The Tribune today says: Secretary Leslie M. Shaw of the Treasury Department told 1,000 young and old people in the chapel of the James Methodist Episcopal Church Sunday school in Brooklyn yesterday, that Bible study and Sunday schools were vitally essential to the welfare and progress of this country. Mr. Shaw said:

"I have been interested in Sunday school work for a long time. I believe that the Sunday schools are doing a great work for the country. I believe that they are essential to the country. I do not say that the Bible should be taught in the public schools, but I do say that it is not taught in the public schools. The Bible as a book is not taught in the pulpit either. I am not prepared to say that we should have expository teaching of the Bible from the pulpit. I am not sure that it would not drive many people away from church. If the Bible is taught you at all, the chances are that you students here will get most of your knowledge of the book from the Sunday school study of it, and for that reason the Sunday school is the greatest institution in the country."

Secretary Shaw will go to Utica tonight and will deliver a speech at the chamber of commerce dinner there tomorrow night. Mrs. Shaw sailed yesterday on Red Star steamship Kroonland.

DECLINE ARBITRATION OFFER.

Paving Cutters in Gloucester, Mass., Continue Strike.

GLOUCESTER, Mass., April 16.—The paving cutters' strike was continued today, following the unsuccessful efforts which were made Saturday night to bring the difficulty to an end by means of arbitration. The 90 men employed by the Rockport Granite Company voted at a secret meeting Saturday night to decline the offer of arbitration which had been made by the company and by the state board of arbitration. The strikers want an increase of $2.50 per thousand paving blocks.

FINANCIAL.

NEW YORK, April 16, Wall Street—The stock market opened strong, with Amalgamated Copper at 114¾, American Locomotive 70¾, American Smelting 161⅞, Anaconda 28¼, Atchison 94, Baltimore & Ohio 112, Brooklyn Transit 88¾, Erie 45⅝, Louisville 151, Northern Pacific 210¾, Norfolk & Western 80, Pennsylvania 113⅝, Reading 138½, Rock Island 25¾, Sugar 140½, St Paul 175⅛, Southern Railway 40⅜, Southern Pacific 63¾, Union Pacific 155½, United States Steel 43¾ and 137⅜, United States Steel preferred 109¼.

10—There were large opening transactions in the stock market today in most of the prominent stocks at advances of a fraction over Saturday. The principal gains were in the industrials and specialties. American Locomotive and United States Reduction preferred rose 2½, American Smelting 1¼, International Pump and Hocking Valley about a point and Louisville & Nashville and Amalgamated Copper ⅝.

11—Speculation broadened out considerably, and there was a large accumulation of stocks of the lower grade, especially those of industrial companies and of recent formation. All the well known stocks were also bought on a rising scale, but the demand for these quickly abated when the professionals commenced to take profit. Business, which had been on a very large scale, slackened to almost nominal proportions when the market began to run off. A feature of the trading was the perpendicular drop of 13 points in Butterick Publishing Company, with variations from 2 to 4 points between sales.

Noon—Money on call, easier, at 5 per cent; prime mercantile paper, 5½@6 per cent. The market became active again with the renewal of the upward movement. Industrials and specialties were comparatively still. Bonds were irregular. A $124,000 block of United States Steel sinking fund bonds sold at par for the first time in the history of that bond.

THE CHILDREN'S LEAGUE.

Excellent Work of the Civic League in Interesting Pupils of the Schools in Good Citizenship.

The Civic League of Newport, during its first winter of active service, has been proceeding quietly and unobtrusively, but none the less effectively, in its work for the improvement of conditions in our city. Among the various branches of work one of the most important and interesting is that of the organization and direction of a Children's League of Good Citizenship in the public schools. The late Colonel Waring, when commissioner of street cleaning in New York, made use of a similar league for the purpose of awakening even the children to feelings of civic pride and responsibility, and he believed and proved that good results came from the methods of the League, and that they were of great value in training our growing girls and boys in the ways of good citizenship.

The educational department of the Newport Civic League, Mrs. Walter N. Hill chairman, established last January three divisions of the League of Good Citizenship in three of our schools--Coddington, Lenthal and Coggeshall. In starting the League the consent of the school board must first be obtained and the interest and co-operation of principal and teachers secured. A preliminary meeting was held at each schoolhouse and the object of the organization clearly and simply stated to the children. In her work of organization Mrs. Hill has been ably assisted by Mrs. Frank M. Greenlaw, Mrs. Walter S. Langley, Mrs. Harry G. Wilks and Miss Maude Stevens, and it is no doubt largely due to the tact and skill with which the cause has been presented that the children have responded with enthusiasm and have joined the League in goodly numbers.

Each division of the League is called by the name of its schoolhouse; the children elect their own officers--a president, vice president, secretary, a representative from each grade, these officers together forming the executive committee. The children conduct their own meetings, and it is gratifying to notice the increasing dignity and self-possession in their management of affairs. The meetings occur once a month, at the close of afternoon school. The constitution requires that a teacher shall always be present, and also a member of the Civic League. Minutes of the previous meeting are read, and reports regarding condition of the streets, etc., are called for from the secretary and the representatives from each grade. After the business meeting the president introduces the speaker of the afternoon, who is provided by the Civic League. The talk is brief, taking up some theme relating to civics.

Article II of the constitution states that "The object of the association shall be to interest the children of the city of Newport in all matters relating to good citizenship;" and article V of the by-laws gives the key-note to the development of that interest.

"Section I. It shall be the duty of each member of this League to refrain from throwing paper, bits of fruit or any refuse whatever into streets or any other public place, and also to refrain from injuring or defacing property, and to observe city ordinances.

"Sec. II. Any member showing continued neglect of duty shall be dropped from the League (and return his badge.)"

No little self-denial is required on the part of an active child to observe some of these rules, and the practice of them must develop self-control, thoughtfulness, regard for the rights of others--all civic virtues which inculcated thus early in our children may give us stronger and more useful citizens in the near future.

The first meeting with a speaker was held in March, when Miss Ruth B. Franklin spoke to the Lenthal division, Mrs. Alfred G. Langley to the Coggeshall division and Rev. Ralph H. Pomeroy to the Coddington division, the subject being "City Ordinances." Before the April meeting a fourth division had been organized by Mrs. Walter S. Langley and Mrs. Greenlaw at the Calvert School; hence four speakers were required in April--Mrs. M. S. W. Marsh, Miss Watling, Colonel Leslie and Mr. Greenlaw all addressing the League on the subject: "How Newport Impresses a Stranger." It is hoped that a division may be organized in each of the other schools as soon as practicable.

The children take pride in their badge, a pretty pin in blue and yellow, the continental colors. The words "League of Good Citizenship of Newport" are engraved in white letters on the blue, and the anchor from the coat of arms of Rhode Island on a yellow ground in the centre.

The principal officers in the League are: In the Coddington division, president and secretary respectively, Vernon Tallman and Lauritz Juliansen. In the Calvert division, Roy Hazzard and Elsie Watson; in the Coggeshall division, Thomas Brown and Georgie Miller; in the Lenthal division Everett Smith and Henrietta Kane.

In closing this brief account of the Children's League of Good Citizenship the writer would suggest that there are many women in Newport not yet enrolled in the Civic League who might find an interest in this branch of the work. It is but a slight tax on any one's powers to give a half-hour once a month to visiting these children's meetings, but it would strengthen the hands of the committee now engaged in the undertaking and would also encourage the children. Are there not some who will join the Civic League and afterwards give their names to Mrs. Walter N. Hill as helpers in her department?

"The salvation of the state depends upon the children." N.

A DIPHTHERIA DEATH.

Alice Freeborn, infant daughter of Benjamin Freeborn, died at the City Hospital yesterday from diphtheria having been admitted to the institution Saturday afternoon, only 15 hours before her death. The other diphtheria patient at this institution, though very ill at first, is now mending rapidly. The Board of Health is having few cases of diphtheria reported this year, yesterday's being only the third admitted to this hospital. None of the cases found seem to spread. The death of the Freeborn child is the first at the hospital.

CLOUDS, RAIN AND FOG.

Yet Easter Sunday Was Fittingly Observed Within Doors.

Elaborate Decorations, Special Music and Appropriate Sermons in the Churches.

In spite of the unpleasant weather Sunday, Easter was observed in all the churches in Newport with appropriate services. The churches were handsomely decorated, the music was of a high order, and the attendance was large, especially in the morning, before the rain came.

While the services in the churches were held according to the elaborately arranged programs and the weather did not interfere with the attendance, it was far from a joyous Easter outside. The rain, which threatened in the morning, came at noon, as the congregations were dismissed, and many of the worshippers were caught without umbrellas or other protection from the wet. The rain was only of short duration, but it was followed by a chilly, penetrating fog which made it extremely unpleasant to be out of doors, and many were disappointed in not being able to go out during the afternoon for walks or visits among friends.

In the Protestant Episcopal churches there were the usual services for Easter, with celebration of the Holy Communion and appropriate sermons by the rectors, and Sunday School exercises in the afternoon. At Trinity the children of the Sunday School at the special service were given pots of blooming plants. At Emmanuel the rector, Rev. D. H. Porter, D. D., was assisted at the morning service by Rev. Latta Griswold. At St. George's Rev. Bertal Heeney, the rector, conducted the various services of the day, addressing the Sunday School in the afternoon and preaching a sermon in the evening. At St. John's the services were conducted by Rev. Mr. Linny, who is in charge during Rev. Mr. Beattie's absence, and the music was of an exceptionally high order, Mrs. Currie Doty-Spooner singing the solo parts in Schubert's mass, which was sung in the morning.

The Roman Catholic churches were elaborately decorated, and the services were largely attended. At St. Mary's Rev. William B. Meenan was the celebrant of the high mass at 10:30, assisted by the other priests of the church, and preached the sermon, being also the celebrant at the solemn vespers in the evening. At St. Joseph's the four services of the morning were largely attended. Rev. Father Mahon, the pastor, was unable on account of severe illness to be present, and the services were conducted by the assistant priests, who conveyed to the parishioners the Easter greetings of the pastor.

At the First Methodist Episcopal Church there was special music by the choir, under the direction of the organist, Mr. Joseph H. Garnett, and the pastor, Rev. Charles Alford Stenhouse, preached at both services, his theme in the morning being "Now is Christ Risen" and in the evening "In Christ Shall All Be Made Alive."

Rev. Ernest W. Burch, the pastor, preached at the Thames Street Methodist Episcopal at the morning service, and special music was rendered by a double quartet. In the evening the Easter concert was given by the school, entitled "The Easter Story," Songs were sung by the School, and recitations were given by many of the smaller children. Remarks were made by Rev. E. W. Burch and Superintendent Harry A. Titus. The committee in charge of the program and decorations consisted of Mrs. Harry Knull, Miss Bessie Gladding, Miss Mary Stanhope, Miss Harvey and Mr. William Dick.

At the First Baptist John Clark Memorial a special musical program was rendered by a quartet, and the pastor, Rev. Edward A. Johnson, D. D., preached at the morning service from the text, "Blessed be God who hath begotten us again unto a lively hope by the resurrection of Jesus Christ from the dead," his theme being "Easter the Birthday of Hope." In the evening the cantata of "Jerusalem" was sung by a chorus of 20 voices, under the auspices of the Bible school, with Mr. Herbert C. Tilley as leader.

At the Second Baptist the pastor, Rev. G. W. Quick, D. D., preached in the morning on "Jesus and the Resurrection, or the Fact and Hope of the Gospel." Special Easter music was rendered by the choir. In the evening the Sunday School had its Easter service, with recitations and hymns and an address by the pastor. Each scholar was given a potted plant in bloom at the close of the services.

At the Shiloh Baptist the pastor, Rev. Henry N. Jeter, preached at the morning service on "The Crucifixion and the Resurrection," and in the evening there was a concert by the choir, at which Easter selections were sung, including solos by Miss Jeter and Messrs. Banks and Tate.

There was a large attendance at the United Congregational. The decorations consisted of Easter lilies, which had been contributed by the various classes of the Sunday School and were later sent to the "Shut-ins" of the church. Miss Jessamine A. Chase rendered several violin selections. The pastor, Rev. James Austin Richards, preached a sermon on "The Reality of the Resurrection," his text being from Matthew XXVII:6: "Come see the place where the Lord lay." The Sunday School had its Easter exercises at noon, with recitations by the younger scholars, appropriate songs and a brief address.

At the Union Congregational the pastor, Rev. Byron Gunner, preached on "The Needed Revival of the Early Fruits of Christ's Resurrection," in the morning, and in the afternoon the Sunday School children gave an Easter exercise, "At Blessed Easter Tide," with solos, duets, choruses and recitations by the children.

At the First Presbyterian Rev. J. Ritchie Bell of Montreal, Canada, preached both morning and evening. The decorations were of palms and flowers, and special musical programs were rendered by the choir, with vocal solos by Dr. U. H. Luther and violin selections by Mr. Ray Groff.

The minister, Rev. William Safford Jones, preached at the Channing Memorial from the text in Hebrews IX:1: "The substance of things hoped for, the evidence of things not seen," the theme being "The Evidence of Things Not Seen." The regular quartet choir rendered appropriate Easter music. In the afternoon the Sunday School had a carol service in the church, the quartet assisting in the singing of the hymns. At the close of the service plants were distributed to the children and the lilies used in the decoration of the church were sent to those who were unable by sickness to attend the services.

At the Mt. Zion African Methodist Episcopal the pastor, Rev. C. N. Gibbons, preached an Easter sermon in the morning and in the evening the annual sermon to Benjamin Gardner Commandery, Knights Templar, which organization attended in good numbers. The music by the choir during the day was appropriate to the Easter season.

At the Swedish Methodist Episcopal Church the pastor, Rev. C. J. Nelson, preached on "The Empty Sepulchre," and "The Commander's Conflict and Triumph." At both services special Easter music was sung.

At the Young Men's Christian Association in the afternoon Rev. George W. Quick, D. D., of the Second Baptist Church made the address. The services opened with the singing of familiar hymns, led by General Secretary Dadmun, with Mr. Leonard Jeter accompanying on the cornet, and Mrs. H. V. Knight sang "I Heard the Voice of Jesus Say," by Rathbun. Messrs. W. S. Hans and W. B. Franklin assisted in the services. A large number of enlisted men were present.

MIDDLETOWN.

[Regular correspondence of the News.]

An unusually large attendance filled the Berkeley Memorial Chapel to its doors yesterday morning. Holy Communion was administered by Rev. R. B. Pomeroy of Emmanuel Church, Newport, with whom Rev. Latta Griswold exchanged. The services were in charge of Rev. John B. Dinan, who took as his text St. John XI:25: "Jesus said unto her, I am the resurrection and the life." The regular choir was augmented by the boys from St. George's School, who took the solo parts, assisted by Master Gardner Fuller, a young English lad of 14, who carried the soprano part.

While not so profusely decorated as in former years, the floral display was attractive, consisting of palms, spirea and Easter lilies in pots, and geraniums. The altar decorations were white carnations and tulips, these being the gift of Messrs. Berkeley Updike and Edward Potter of Newport, both of whom have relatives buried in the church yard. The cut flowers were placed upon these graves after the services. A number of the potted Easter lilies were also sent to the "shut-ins." There was a distribution of potted geraniums, in flower, to the children at the Sunday School at 10 a. m.

A small attendance was present at the evening service, owing to the dense fog. The absence of the organist, Mr. John R. McLean, on account of the weather, prevented the special musical program which had been planned. Miss Alice L. Albro, who was to have been the soloist for the evening, supplied at the organ. Rev. Latta Griswold was to have been the preacher for the evening, but not being present, Rev. John B. Dinan gave as his discourse an account of the resurrection according to the four Gospels. Sunday next, the afternoon services will be resumed at the chapel for the summer, and will be held at 3:30.

The rain and heavy fog of yesterday afternoon prevented a full attendance at the 5 o'clock service at St. George's School. Mr. McLean, who was to have been at the organ was unable to reach the school, owing to the heavy rainfall.

Owing to the inclement weather the services at the several churches were not very well attended during the afternoon and evening. Holy Cross Chapel was tastefully decorated with potted plants, and a special service by the Sunday School was rendered previous to the afternoon service, Rev. Allen Jacobs officiating. At the Methodist church the platform and pulpit were completely covered with cut flowers and potted plants and palms. The service in the afternoon was attended by only a few, but in the evening a better attendance was had. This was a song service, with the singing of hymns especially appropriate for Easter.

DEATH OF CAPTAIN DUNCAN KENNEDY.

Captain Duncan Kennedy, U. S. N., commanding armored cruiser Colorado, who died on board his ship at Guantanamo last week after an operation for appendicitis, was one of the most efficient and highly esteemed officers of the navy, and was making his last cruise preliminary to promotion to flag rank. He was born at Albany, N. Y., entered the Naval Academy in 1861 and was graduated as an honor man in the class of 1865. His first service was with the Asiatic squadron, and subsequently he performed duty on all the other cruising divisions and at important shore stations with a capacity and fidelity which earned the approbation of the Navy Department and elicited the respect of his brother officers.

At the outbreak of the Spanish war Captain Kennedy was on duty in connection with the naval militia, and as ordnance officer of the Norfolk navy yard. He was promoted to commander in 1899, and commanded the Mayflower, Detroit and Prairie. He attained the rank of captain in 1903, and in January, 1905, was detailed to the command of armored cruiser Colorado, one of the important group of this type assigned to the Atlantic fleet.

Captain Kennedy in his long and honorable career had to his credit 21 years' sea service and 19 years' shore duty, and was unemployed less than two years. His body will be brought North on one of the battleships of the second division and will arrive at Hampton Roads next Tuesday morning.

Captain Kennedy was well known in Newport, where he had been stationed on various duties. He was here with the Colorado last summer.

BATTLESHIP KEARSARGE.

Seven Men Were Killed by an Explosion in Her Forward Turret.

FOR USE OF HEBREWS.

Modernly Equipped Club House to be Erected in Chicago.

CHICAGO, April 16.--The congested Jewish district between Halsted and Ashland avenues is to have a $100,000 club house, modernly equipped, and with such opportunities for recreation and improvement of social life as will attract the children of the Ghetto streets, the young men from the cigar stores and Jewish fathers and mothers from the monotony of their home surroundings. The club house was made a practical certainty yesterday at the annual meeting of the Chicago Hebrew Institute. Representatives of the B'Nai B'Rith attended the meeting, and offered to amalgamate with the Institute in the movement to try the project to a successful end. The proposition was accepted.

TWO KEARSARGE VICTIMS KNOWN HERE.

Two of the victims of the accident on the Kearsarge Friday were well known here, having been members of the class at the Torpedo Station last year. They are Julius Alfred Koester, turret captain, first class, and Peter Norberg, gunner's mate, third class. Koester was the better known of the two, as he was the pitcher of the Torpedo Station base ball team and pitched in all the games in which the team played last season, and was therefore well known to many citizens. He was an earnest and hard-working player, who had his whole heart in winning the game. He was also a hard worker at the Station and made a good record, as is shown by the fact that he was turret captain of the forward turret at the time of the accident.

BUSY AT THE SHIPYARD.

The past week was quite a busy one at the Newport shipyard. Ferryboat Bristol, of the Providence & Newport road, was hauled out for an overhauling and had her balance rudder replaced by a wriggle rudder, the keel being built up to the rudder post and the rudder made longer aft. This is expected to make her steer better, as the balance rudder did not seem to fill the bill. Fishing steamer Winona was hauled out, painted and launched. Steam yacht Polyanthus, yawl Wraith, knockabout Hope and cathoat Iris were launched from the ways, where they had been all winter, and work has been begun on a new deck on the Polyanthus.

The new power tow boat Josephine, built in the yard the past winter, was given a speed and power trial Saturday afternoon and performed in a satisfactory manner, as to both speed and towing ability, and maneouvred easily, more than equalling expectations. This week steamer General and steam yacht Cora are to be hauled out.

The LAPPIN Store

HOSE ECONOMY

CONSISTS first in buying Hose that is dyed with pure dye. You can't afford to fool with cheap dyes, especially with tender feet.

Should you poison or inflame your feet, each visit to the doctor costs $1. Where then is your saving? Then again, the less you pay for Hose, as a rule, the less time it wears. That's why we bar out the cheapest kinds from our store. We sell Hose that we know is dyed right, and will wear right.

That's why our Hose dept. is today the talk of the city. Filled with dependable goods, thousands of patterns, kinds and colors, and sold at a price, that considering the quality, is a practical lesson in THRIFT HOSE ECONOMY.
